Mies van der Rohe Pavilion

Less is More

The Germany pavilion at the Barcelona International Exhibition (1929) was designed by Ludwig Mies van der Rohe and Lilly Reich and hosted the Spanish King Alfonso XIII official reception to the German authorities. In this iconic work of the Modern Movement, van der Rohe (father of Modern Architecture) defined his philosophy that will inspire generations of architects. Admire the convergence of glass, steel and 4 different kinds of stone (Roman travertine, green Alpine marble, ancient green marble from Greece and golden onyx from the Atlas Mountains).

Las Golondrinas

Barcelona from the sea

The Port of Barcelona offers a new special route on the occasion of the America's Cup race in Barcelona. Two daily departures (one in the morning and one in the afternoon) are organized to tour the bases of the 6 teams that will participate in the 37th America's Cup.

Dare with more than 50 attractions of different levels, for all ages.
